We recommend servicing your valve every 3 years, or 20,000 miles, whichever comes sooner

Designed specifically for the AMG A35 enthusiast Forge Motorsport are proud to release another Mercedes performance enhancement available in either atmospheric or recirculating versions.

Developed and manufactured in Great Britain this product comprises of a 100% billet piston solenoid operated valve that integrates seamlessly with the OEM electronics resulting in absolutely no fault codes, no check engine lights, and no detriment to the performance of the vehicle in any way. These valves are engineered to remedy the failure issues experienced with the OEM solenoid valves when the diaphragm or plastic piston fails which would effectively result in a boost leak.

With the A35 AMG gaining popularity within the tuning industry the forge valves are a must, they ensure that reliability and performance are the number one priority, further allowing the tuning of your A35 AMG.

Forge valves use full billet alloy construction with a piston based internal design that provides significantly improved reliability, lightning fast response and will withstand additional tuning upgrades.

We recommend that you give yourself around 3 hours for the installation of this Forge product.
