Opis produktu

Revolutionize the performance of your Mercedes A 250 with our Competition High Performance Intercooler Kit EVO 2! Your Mercedes A 250 deserves the best, and our Competition High Performance Intercooler Kit EVO 2 will make sure you get just that. Here's what you can expect: With mesh dimensions of 640mm x 200mm x 110mm, our intercooler offers an impressive 25% larger flow area compared to the factory cooler. This means your engine gets more air, resulting in a noticeable increase in power. Our kit offers an amazing 110% more charge air volume than the stock radiator. This results in improved combustion and ultimately more power and efficiency. Our newly developed Competition high performance mesh has outstanding cooling and back pressure characteristics. It provides optimal cooling and minimizes backpressure, resulting in improved performance. Despite its impressive size, our intercooler weighs only 10.5 kg. The cooler's end boxes are made of cast aluminum and have been optimized for the best possible internal airflow using flow analysis. This guarantees a uniform filling of the intercooler. Our kit includes two reinforced silicone hoses and a cast aluminum pressure tube. The original click connections have been eliminated and the connection diameters at the inlet and outlet have been expanded to Ø70 mm to maximize airflow. Installation is at the original mounting points and is easy to do, with no complex adjustments. It is a complete ready-to-install kit that covers the turbo up to the throttle body. Whether you are racing or simply want to get the maximum performance out of your Mercedes A 250, this kit is the right choice. We subject all of our products to rigorous qualitative monitoring to ensure they meet the highest standards. Don't miss the chance to take the performance of your Mercedes A 250 to a new level.
