Opis produktu

The ProMax enclosed filter has a modular design. Supplied with a bell mouth inlet and base adapter the housing can be combined with a foam Ramair or a pleated Proram filter. The aluminium enclosure shields against engine temps whilst the bell mouth is positioned for an increased cold air feed resulting in an added performance boost. This kit also includes custom silicone hoses from filter to turbo to increase performance and overall design aesthetics. The added hoses help create a more direct, undisturbed air flow for max performance gains. ProMax is great for applications in motorsport, fast road, and kit cars, where space is at a premium, but performance is critical.
