Opis produktu

For the i30N facelift DCT or manual, there will be one hose that does not fit - this is known as the lower radiator hose. In the image above, this is the longest hose located in the centre.

FMKC023 is Forge Motorsports silicone hose kit for the Hyundai i30 N and Veloster N and is a direct replacement for the OE rubber coolant hoses. We have now added an extra hose in the kit so it is now compatible with both the manual and DCT transmission vehicles. This is currently the only silicone coolant kit which offers this fitment on the Hyundai platform.

With the use of 3 ply silicone construction this hose kit will withstand pressures that can be experienced on tuned and remapped engines. They will long outlast the original hoses and with our limited lifetime warranty on all Forge products, you can be sure these hoses won't let you down. Complete with all hose clamps required.

Available in red, blue, performance blue, or black. Please select your choice in the options drop down tab when ordering.

We recommend you give yourself one hour to two hours to install all the hoses, remember that you will have to drain your coolant to fit these so make sure to have a tray to catch all the coolant.
