Opis produktu

A superbly hand fabricated and British manufactured intercooler designed exclusively for Deranged trucks and suitable for the Mercedes X class truck. With owners pushing high torque figures and running plenty of boost through engine software re-calibration the OEM intercooler end tanks can suffer from fatigue very quickly. The last thing an owner needs is to have their truck out of action due to a severe boost leak from the plastic end tanks cracking then failing. With this in mind Forge Motorsport have re designed the OEM cooler with a 137% larger core and 8% bigger surface area to ensure your engine and inlet air temps stay as cool as possible.

This core combined with our strong end tanks is the perfect solution for any Mercedes X class owner ensuring the intercooler will NOT fail running high boost and of course is backed by our lifetime warranty. Available in our textured finish black powder coat for maximum longevity.

Working with some of the best tuners in the automotive industry the Forge Motorsport intercooler was tested independently. Avon Tuning, who have a great reputation in tuning the Mercedes X-Class, had a few issues with the poor performing OEM intercooler and high inlet temperatures. The results of their rigorous testing were very impressive, with yields of 15 bhp and lower inlet temperatures of up to 22°C. This enabled Avon Tuning to ensure the Mercedes engine was running well within its safe parameters.

Below the IAT's of the stock cooler vs the Forge item can be found along with the Dyno results from our extensive testing.
