Opis produktu

Maximum power and cooling - The performance intercooler for your BMW 116d. Are you dreaming of a noticeable increase in power and more efficient cooling of your engine? Our performance intercooler is the answer to your dreams. With advanced technology and customized design, this intercooler offers a fascinating driving experience. This performance intercooler outperforms the competition with core dimensions of 520 mm x 200 mm x 120 mm (stepped), resulting in an impressive total volume of 10,400 cc. This represents an impressive 104% increase in flow area and 140% increase in charge air volume compared to the stock intercooler. Our high-performance intercooler core provides excellent cooling performance and allows your engine to take full advantage of the cooled air. This allows you to optimally increase performance. Despite its impressive performance, this intercooler is surprisingly lightweight at only 7.6 kg. CAD-designed free-form cast aluminum end boxes optimize internal airflow, resulting in more cooling capacity with less backpressure compared to the stock cooler. An anti-corrosion coating with excellent heat conduction properties protects our intercooler from environmental influences. This ensures a durable and optimal cooling performance, so you can rely on constant performance. Installation is done at the original mounting points and is a breeze. This kit is completely ready to install, a plug and play experience that saves time. We continuously monitor the quality of our products to ensure they meet the highest standards. If you're looking to optimize the performance and efficiency of your BMW 116d, the Performance Intercooler is the perfect choice. See your vehicle come to new strength and your driving experience improve. Get your Performance Intercooler today and boost the performance of your BMW to a whole new level.
