Leading the way in cooling for the Renault turbocharged vehicles for the last 25 years; from the Renault 5 GT and now to the impressive Megane, Forge present another industry winner.

Combining our decades of experience and CAD flow simulation software, we have created the ultimate intercooler incorporating the latest technology in tube and fin core with 17 FPI (fins per inch) construction and high flow cast end tanks. This equates to a huge reduction in inlet temperatures and up to 30°C difference in cooling efficiency compared with the original intercooler.

You will also feel a significant improvement in torque coming in much lower down the rev range. This intercooler is a great upgrade for both the standard or modified Megane.
